Dear Shannon,

With the school year under way, October is a great month to focus on training. There are some great training resources below to for the youth leaders, and we welcome Post Advisors and other adult committee members to attend our Adult Leadership Training in December.

Learning for Life Executives are working on contacting teachers who use our curriculum to share some exciting program changes, deliver materials and provide teacher training.

Now that posts are conducting their fall open houses and recruiting new youth, it is a good time of year to let youth elect new officers, as well. Typically, a post will elect a youth president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Visit the links below for information on training.

Big Bang Mindbender

To start the game, you ask "Who did I shoot?", and then point at different participants and say bang. The trick to this game is that the person who was shot is the person who speaks after the last bang. So if you just start the game, and then end the bangs and then ask "Who did I shoot?", then you shot yourself for speaking first after the last bang. Try not pointing at anyone to confuse the group, or even just using one shot. Mix up your number of shots to keep from making a pattern. A very fun mindbender!
